

SUMMER INTERN OPPORTUNITY – MINERAL RESOURCES

International Royalty Corporation (“IRC”) has a summer intern position available at its Denver, Colorado area corporate headquarters. IRC (symbol “IRC” on Toronto exchange; “ROY” on AMEX) is a publicly-held mineral royalty company with a world-wide portfolio of producing and exploration interests in base and precious metals, industrial minerals, and energy fuels. IRC acquires these assets through both cash and structured purchases, as well as via royalty financing. The preferred candidate is a junior or graduate level student in the extractive or related industries (mining, metallurgical, or geological engineering, geology, or mineral economics), who has a career orientation towards the economic or public-company finance sectors of the resource industries, and who is looking for introductory practical experience in these areas. Duties will involve technical mining and commodity market research, financial modeling, due diligence investigations and general transaction support for IRC’s acquisition activities. Interested students should contact:
