

Expansion of A.C.E. Mission Statement Item #4

Debbie Cockburn

“Promote the highest degree of professionalism within the Association's membership and support activities to enhance professional performance”

ACE should be in the forefront of encouraging and/or organizing training sessions and information sessions. The administration should be approached to offer and fund them. These training sessions could be on such subjects as new processes and rules (such as accounting, travel, work orders, key forms), understanding a computer's innards, basic computer use, understanding student application, acceptance, and financial aid processes, applying for State jobs online, or even to be taught basic geology for laymen. This would not only enhance the ability of members' lives, it may enable them to improve performance of their jobs. The administration would see that classified employees are eager for improvement and enhancement and are enthusiastic resource in our school.
