Residency Classification in Colorado

Guidelines

Residency petition requirements and submission deadlines are subject to change without notice. The information on this page is considered to be general guidance and is not legal advice. Refer to state statutes to view the actual law. Tuition classification is governed by state law (Title 23, Article 7, of the Colorado Revised Statutes of 1973, as amended) and by judicial decisions that apply to all public institutions of higher education in Colorado, and is subject to change at any time. The university is not free to make exceptions to the rules except as specifically permitted by state law.

Petitioning for residency requires proof of 12 consecutive months of domicile and intent prior to the term you are petitioning for. Undergraduate students under 22 completing an Emancipation petition are required to also show proof of emancipation. Domicile is defined as a person’s true, fixed and permanent home. Intent are the legal ties a student makes to their permanent home upon arrival. Therefore, individuals who are present in Colorado on a temporary basis, for the purpose of completing a degree, cannot establish domicile by merely taking these actions.

The following may be considered evidence of domicile and intent. Although no single factor alone is conclusive. It is important to refer to the appropriate petition to determine what evidence you need to provide. More information on residency guidelines, eligibility requirements, and locating the appropriate petition can be found HERE.

- Driver’s license issued in Colorado
- Payment of Colorado income tax
- Ownership of residential property in Colorado for 12 or more months (must be permanently living in the residential property)
- Lease agreements for the 12 or more months
- Employment in Colorado or acceptance of future employment in Colorado
- Vehicle registration in Colorado
- Voter registration in Colorado
- Graduation from a Colorado high school

Important: After a student is enrolled at an institution, their classification for tuition purposes remains unchanged in the absence of clear and convincing evidence to the contrary.
