In October 2023 Mines updated the Associate of Engineering Science (AES) degree in partnership with the Colorado Community College System (CCCS) to reflect core curriculum changes at Mines. Currently, the following CCCS colleges offer the AES degree that articulates to Mines: Arapahoe Community College, Community College of Aurora, Front Range Community College, Pikes Peak State College, and Red Rocks Community College. Other CCCS colleges may offer pathways to transfer through Associate of Science degrees or other transfer pathways. Check with the individual college. Mines also has an agreement with Metropolitan State University of Denver.
